2005 Poet In Motion

Alan Fry and Alan Hills campaign a beautiful blue convertible Bentley Corniche on the MSA Euroclassic. Not only is their car 'poetry in motion' but as you can see from their write up of the 2005 MSA Euroclassic, they are also 'poets in motion'.

We crossed the Channel – early May
The Classic Cars were on their way
Denmark, Sweden to explore
In those special cars, we all adore

Names not easy to the tongue
The 2005 Rally had begun
First checkpoint in Denmark's Northern City
With parks and gardens – very pretty

At Lego Land we pause and measure
This world of blocks, joined for our pleasure
Nyborg with its ten mile bridge
With historic castles on every ridge

Copenhagen, the Merchants home in many ways
Control of the Baltic in the early days
A motor circuit – KTI
Around the tracks our cars did fly

Viking Museum in a waterfront village
Showed how the Danes could rape and pillage
A castle now, each side of a lake
How much more will our Classic Cars take?

Glass and porcelain were on display
The Classic Cars were on their way
Sweden's premier racing circuit at Mantorp Park
We barely arrived before the dark

The Saab Museum with a rich display
Was open for us on our final day
Then Gothenburg, with its sea board docks
Famous canal and deep sea locks

Now to Volvo – Sweden's Star
Marine and transport best by far
Concept cars for us to ponder
Volvo made us stare and wonder

Scandinavian venture finally over
Cars and people back to Dover
Memories of Sweden and Denmark we hold dear
Perhaps to return another year
